Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 12 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Dry periods broken up by widespread heavy showers. Windy.

This Evening and Tonight:
A dry start to the evening for most, with showers largely confined to the east. By night expect widespread showers, often heavy, moving east, leaving scattered showers by dawn. Could see some snow falling on hills. Windy with costal gales. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Saturday:
Showers easing in the morning but by mid-afternoon expect blustery showers, often heavy. Chances of hill snow, thunder, lightning and hail. Windy and cold with gales possible along the coast. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Sunday mostly dry with a few showers early, leading to rain in the afternoon. Monday mostly cloudy with sunny spells. Tuesday cloudy with patchy rain becoming dry and bright later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.